ABOUT THIS COURSE

This UK GDPR Advanced Training is aimed at staff who enforce, or manage data protection at their organisations.

With the UK's transition period ending on the 31st of December 2020 and the GDPR being brought into UK law, there have been slight changes to the regulation.

This training course provides an in-depth look into the GDPR in the UK, building on the content of our GDPR EU Essentials course.

In this online course, staff will understand what they need to do to create a system of procedures and policies which help you keep data safe and avoid a breach. They will also learn about a brief history of the GDPR, the principles of the GDPR in the UK, how to comply with the principles & their role in upholding data protection rights.

Download our free GDPR white paper for more information about the regulations and how it affects certain industry sectors.
